

SCHOLARSHIPS IN DEVELOPMENT AND HUMAN RIGHTS
(2ND EDITION)

Compiled by Zhanna Zhanabekova

Toronto, ON, Canada
Updated in January 2004

This Scholarships List will be of interest to those looking for scholarships, grants and fellowships in the field of international development, including in areas such as human rights, gender equality, minority rights and other social justice-related issues. Most opportunities listed aim to support individuals, rather than organizations or projects, and are intended for junior development practitioners, activists and students. While the majority of fellowships are for countries in the global North (primarily the USA), they seek to attract applicants from around the world.

The List gives a brief description of various funding programs and relevant contact information for obtaining more details on selection criteria, deadlines, application forms, etc. The information listed below is neither comprehensive nor exhaustive, and the programs listed may vary from year to year. It is important, therefore, that potential applicants research particular opportunities and programs further either on an organization's website or by contacting the organization directly.

Information included in this document was compiled from a variety of sources, including the websites of organizations advertising a particular funding opportunity, as well as many relevant listserves, such as AWID's Resource Nets, the Development-Gender network, GenderInfoNews, Women-East-West opportunities mailing list, The Alliance for Conflict Transformation's Scholarships Announcement Forum, INSTRAW-GAINS, and others. While AWID aims to provide accurate and current information, it is up to the reader to verify the details of any opportunity included in this list for themselves.

Good luck in your fellowship search!

 AFRICA YOUTH IN A GLOBAL AGE PROGRAM
THE SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COUNCIL (SSRC)

<http://www.ssrc.org/fellowships/africanyouth/>

The Social Science Research Council (SSRC) and the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS), in partnership with the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA) and South Africa's National Research Foundation (NRF) is pleased to announce the 2003-4 program for research and training on Understanding Exclusion, Creating Value: African Youth in a Global Age. The theme for this year (2003) is Youth, HIV/AIDS and Social Transformation.

The fellowship includes support for field research and participation in pre and post-fieldwork workshops. African researchers based in the region who hold at least a Masters degree and who are no more than five years beyond a Ph.D. are eligible for this program. While the principal purpose of the program is to support junior researchers and practitioners based in an African institution, a few fellowships are also available to Ph.D. candidates based in other regions, who seek field research funding for their dissertations.

 AMBASSADORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS THE ROTARY FOUNDATION

http://www.rotary.org/foundation/educational/amb_scho/

The purpose of the Ambassadorial Scholarships program is to further international understanding and friendly relations among people of different countries. The program sponsors several types of scholarships for undergraduate and graduate students as well as for qualified professionals pursuing vocational studies. While abroad, scholars serve as ambassadors of goodwill to the people of the host country and give presentations about their homelands to Rotary clubs and other groups. Upon returning home, scholars share with Rotarians and others the experiences that led to greater understanding of their host countries. More than 1,100 scholarships were awarded for study in 2002-03. Through grants totaling approximately US$26 million, recipients from some 69 countries studied in more than 64 nations.

CONTACT INFORMATION:

http://www.rotary.org/foundation/educational/amb_scho/prospect/process/apply.html

Interested applicants must apply for Rotary Foundation Ambassadorial Scholarships through their local Rotary club. Because application deadlines vary by club and district, only your local club can provide specific information on deadlines. Remember that scholarship availability varies by Rotary district.

Consult RI's Club Locator (<http://www.rotary.org/support/clubs/index.html>) application for contact information for Rotary clubs.

FELLOWSHIPS AND GRANTS

http://www.aauw.org/fga/fellowships\_grants/index.cfm

One of the world's largest sources of funding exclusively for graduate women, the AAUW Educational Foundation supports aspiring scholars around the globe, teachers and activists in local communities, women at critical stages of their careers, and those pursuing professions where women are underrepresented.

- American Fellowships support women doctoral candidates completing dissertations and scholars seeking funds for postdoctoral research leave or for preparing completed research for publication. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents. One-year postdoctoral research leave fellowships, dissertation fellowships, and summer/short-term research publication grants are offered.
- Career Development Grants support women who hold a bachelor's degree and who are preparing to advance their careers, change careers, or re-enter the work force.
- Community Action Grants provide seed money to individual women, AAUW branches and AAUW state organizations, as well as local community-based nonprofit organizations for innovative programs or nondegree research projects that promote education and equity for women and girls.
- Eleanor Roosevelt Teacher Fellowships provide professional development opportunities for women public school teachers; improve girls' learning opportunities, especially in math, science, and technology; and promote equity and long-term change in classrooms, schools, and school systems.
- International Fellowships are awarded for full-time graduate or postgraduate study or research to women who are not U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Supplemental grants support community-based projects in the fellow's home country.
- Selected Professions Fellowships are awarded to women who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents and who intend to pursue a full-time course of study (during the fellowship year) in designated degree programs where women's participation traditionally has been low.

- University Scholar-in-Residence, located at a college or university, undertakes and disseminates research on gender and equity for women and girls.

* BELLA ABZUG ADVOCACY FELLOWSHIP
WOMEN'S ENVIRONMENT AND DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATION (WEDO)
www.wedo.org

The Bella Abzug Advocacy Fellowship will offer an opportunity for young women who embody Bella's spirit and vision to develop their advocacy skills and enhance their local to global understanding. The one-year internship will be based at the Women's Environment and Development Organization (WEDO) in New York. Founded by Bella Abzug and Mim Kelber in 1990, WEDO is an international advocacy organization that seeks to increase the power of women worldwide as policymakers to achieve economic and social justice, a healthy and peaceful planet, and human rights for all.

The WEDO Fellowship program seeks to strengthen the individual's capacity to advance women's perspectives through coordinated activism at the national and international levels. She will become familiar with WEDO's advocacy in global policymaking processes and will carry WEDO's work forward by promoting an understanding in the U.S. of how global policies affect local policies and vice versa.

* THE BLACKMUN FELLOWSHIP
THE CENTER FOR REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS

http://www.reproductiverights.org/ab\_em\_black1.html

The Center for Reproductive Rights is a non-profit legal advocacy organization dedicated to promoting women's equality worldwide by guaranteeing reproductive rights as human rights. Reproductive rights, the foundation for women's self-determination over their bodies and sexual lives, are critical to all women's ability to achieve their full potential.

The Blackmun Fellowship was established by the Center for Reproductive Rights in honor of Justice Harry A. Blackmun and his principled and passionate defense of reproductive liberty. In Roe v. Wade and subsequent decisions, Justice Blackmun recognized that the right to make childbearing choices free of governmental interference is central to women's lives and their ability to participate fully in society. The Blackmun Fellowship was founded to further Justice Blackmun's legacy by giving this nation's aspiring legal advocates and scholars the opportunity to participate in litigation at the forefront of the struggle for reproductive freedom.

* DURABLE INEQUALITIES IN LATIN AMERICA FELLOWSHIPS: HISTORIES, SOCIETIES, CULTURES
STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY

www.stonybrook.edu/lacc

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies Center (LACS) of Stony Brook University will host a new Rockefeller Humanities Residency Site starting in the academic year 2003-04. The theme of this Visiting Scholar program, "Durable Inequalities in Latin America," promotes new research on the core problem of how and why Latin America has maintained, across many centuries, the world's most radically unequal societies and cultures. Inequality has social, political, historical, cultural and ethical dimensions, beyond its usual focus in the "hard" social sciences. We seek primarily Latin American or Caribbean scholars, from any field (or topical interest) in the Humanities, Historical or Social Sciences, whose work expands or innovates on study of inequalities.

 EASTERN EUROPE DISSERTATION AND POST-DOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS/GRANTS AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES (ACLS)

www.acls.org
<http://www.ssrc.org/fellowships/easteurope/>

These programs are administered by the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) and are subject to the availability of funding. They are intended to support research undertaken outside Eastern Europe, although short visits to the area may be proposed as part of a coherent program primarily undertaken elsewhere.

Fellowships will be offered for research and training in the social sciences and humanities relating to Albania, Bulgaria, the Baltic States, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Slovakia and the former Yugoslavia. Proposals dealing with Albania, Bulgaria, Romania and the former Yugoslavia are particularly encouraged. In awarding these grants, consideration is given to the scholarly merit of the proposal, its importance to the development of East European studies and the scholarly potential, accomplishments and financial need of the applicants. All proposals should be for scholarly work, the product of which is to be disseminated in English.

* FELLOWSHIP: FACING GLOBAL CAPITAL, FINDING HUMAN SECURITY: A GENDERED CRITIQUE

NCRW/NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR RESEARCH ON WOMEN AND CUNY

http://www.ncrw.org/initiatives/rockefeller\_application\_form.html

The Program Facing Global Capital, Finding Human Security: a Gendered Critique provides an opportunity to consider cross-disciplinary approaches to understanding human security, a construct being newly addressed in the international community. It will rethink the dynamics of women's and girls' activism in a context of increasing globalization. Feminist discourses on globalization, human rights, citizenship, personal and collective agency will be examined with a view to analyzing what constitutes human security at the beginning of the 21st century and the role and potential of women's organizing and engagement in social and political action.

During their residencies, Fellows, through individual and collaborative work, will explore the potential of a human security framework for evaluating, promoting and sustaining women's leadership and innovation. Drawing on experiences, theory, research, organizing and advocacy, they will focus on the factors and forces that condition people's social, economic, and political security.

 FULBRIGHT NEW CENTURY SCHOLARS PROGRAM THE COUNCIL FOR INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE OF SCHOLARS (CIES)

<http://www.cies.org/NCS/>

For over 50 years, the Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) has helped administer the Fulbright Scholar Program, the U.S. government's flagship academic exchange effort, on behalf of the United States Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Founded in 1947, CIES is a private organization. It is a division of the Institute of International Education (IIE).

CIES annually recruits and sends nearly 800 U.S. faculty and professionals to 140 countries on its traditional program (http://www.cies.org/us_scholars/) and brings 800 foreign faculty and professionals to the U.S. (http://www.cies.org/vs_scholars/). The New Century Scholars Program brings together 30 leading academics and professionals from around the world under the Fulbright banner to examine a major transnational theme and work collaboratively on an issue of global significance. The first year's topic was "Challenges of Health in a Borderless World". For the current year, the research theme is "Toward Equality: The Global Empowerment of Women."

* GLOBAL FUND FOR WOMEN
EXPANDING YOUTH LEADERSHIP IN PHILANTHROPY, GFW FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM
<http://www.globalfundforwomen.org/2involved/fellowships.html>

The Global Fund for Women Fellowship Program, a professional learning opportunity, is designed to expand youth leadership in international philanthropy through two strategies: attracting young people to the field of international women's rights and mentoring future leaders of philanthropic organizations. This fellowship offers individuals a chance to work as members of the Global Fund for Women program and fundraising staff. It serves as a leadership training experience by exposing young professionals to the field of international philanthropy. The program mentors and supports the growth and development of future donors, professionals in philanthropy, and activists for women's human rights.

THE CANADIAN CONSORTIUM ON HUMAN SECURITY (CCHS)

<http://www.humansecuritybulletin.info> http://www.humansecurity.info/fellowships_1.htm
http://www.securitehumaine.info/bourses_1.htm

The Canadian Consortium on Human Security (CCHS) offers three types of Human Security Fellowships: doctoral dissertation fellowships, post-doctoral fellowships and non-academic fellowships. Five to seven fellowships will be awarded.

The fellowship program reflects the Canadian government's human security agenda, encompassing projects that address conflict prevention, humanitarian and peace support operations, security-related governance and accountability issues, as well as international norms and institutions that relate to this human security agenda. The central focus of this agenda is the security threats to citizens posed by conflict, involuntary movement of peoples, extremist social movements, transnational crime, and environmental change.

 INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS FELLOWSHIPS

HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH

<http://www.hrw.org/about/info/fellows.html>

Each year, Human Rights Watch awards five Fellowships to recent graduates of law schools or graduate programs (master's and above) in journalism, international relations, area studies, or other relevant disciplines. Fellows work full time for one year with one or more divisions of Human Rights Watch, based in New York City or Washington, DC. Fellows monitor human rights developments in various countries, conduct on-site investigations, draft reports on human rights conditions, and engage in advocacy aimed at publicizing and curtailing human rights violations.

Two of the fellowships, the Orville Schell and the Alan R. Finberg Fellowships, are open to recent graduates from any university worldwide at the master's level and above.

Three of the fellowships are restricted to graduates of specific schools: the Michael Bloomberg Fellowship, for graduates of graduate programs at John Hopkins University, including the John Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS); the Furman Fellowship, for graduates of

New York University School of Law; and the Leonard H. Sandler Fellowship, for graduates of Columbia Law School.

* INTERNATIONAL POLICY FELLOWSHIPS
CENTER FOR POLICY STUDIES
<http://www.osi.hu/ipf>

The CPS International Policy Fellowships are intended to support the analytical policy research of open society leaders and to provide these Fellows with professional policy training. The program aims to improve the quality of analysis in countries where the Soros foundations work by ensuring that these leaders are able to conduct research in their home region while maintaining local affiliations and a high degree of mobility and intellectual freedom.

Fellows participate in four training seminars in Budapest over the course of the fellowship year conducted by professors of public policy from around the world and gain vital skills including how to write professional policy documents, identify appropriate policy instruments, and effectively advocate policies-skills that are underdeveloped in countries where the Soros foundations work.

 INTERNATIONAL REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS FELLOWSHIPS
THE CENTER FOR REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS
<http://www.reproductiverights.org>

The Center for Reproductive Rights is a non-profit legal advocacy organization dedicated to promoting women's equality by guaranteeing reproductive rights as human rights worldwide. Reproductive rights, the foundation for women's self-determination over their bodies and sexual lives, are critical to all women's ability to achieve their full potential. We are seeking applications for International Reproductive Rights Fellows who will work full time in New York for one year with the International Program staff.

The central mission of the Center for Reproductive Rights' International Program is the achievement of enforceable reproductive rights and accessible quality reproductive health care for women around the world. The program seeks to achieve these goals by: (i) advocating acceptance of women's reproductive rights as human rights; (ii) analyzing international, comparative and national laws; (iii) ensuring that the U.S.'s international aid policies reflect the realities of women's lives in countries receiving funding; and (iv) collaborating with groups engaged in the process of legal and policy reform or interpretation on international reproductive rights issues outside the U.S.

* MICRO IMPACTS OF MACROECONOMIC AND ADJUSTMENT POLICIES (MIMAP)
INTERNSHIP
THE INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT RESEARCH CENTRE (IDRC)
www.mimap.org, <http://www.idrc.ca>

Supported by Canada's International Development Research Centre (IDRC), the MIMAP program assists developing countries build the knowledge base to measure and analyze poverty as well as design policies and programs that meet economic stabilization targets while alleviating poverty and reducing vulnerability. The program has established the MIMAP Network that connects developing-country researchers, policy officials, nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), and international experts. Through research, training, and dialogue, the network works to increase knowledge of the human costs of macroeconomic policies and shocks; improve policies and programs to alleviate poverty and increase equity; and press for their consideration and implementation at the sub-national, national, and international levels. The network includes more than 40 research teams from Asia, Africa, and Canada.

 OAK HUMAN RIGHTS FELLOWSHIP
THE OAK INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS
<http://www.colby.edu/oak>

The Oak Institute for the Study of International Human Rights annually hosts an Human Rights Fellow to teach and conduct research while at residence in the College and organizes lectures and other events centered around the fellow's area of expertise.

The purpose of the fellowship is to offer an opportunity for prominent practitioners in international human rights to take a sabbatical leave from their work and spend a period of up to a semester as a scholar-in-residence at the College.

This provides the Fellow time for reflection, research, and writing. While all human rights practitioners are eligible, we especially encourage applications from those who are currently or were recently involved in "on-the-ground" work at some level of personal risk.

* PROGRAM FOR THE STUDY OF SEXUALITY, GENDER, HEALTH, AND HUMAN RIGHTS

<http://cpmnet.columbia.edu/dept/gender/index.html>

The Program for the Study of Sexuality, Gender, Health and Human Rights invites applications from postdoctoral scholars, advocates, and activists conducting innovative interdisciplinary work on the intersecting themes of sexuality, gender, health and human rights in U.S. and international contexts. Please note that this Program is a residential fellowship program and not a course.

The Program aims to provide a supportive intellectual location to further the sometimes separate conversations and advances that have occurred within studies of sexuality, gender, health, and human rights. Despite new efforts to integrate human rights frameworks into feminist agendas and to frame health as a human right, the relationship of innovative scholarship and activism about sexuality to health and human rights remains to be explored. During their residencies in the Program, fellows will examine the challenges and lessons posed by integrating sexuality, gender, health and human rights in theory, research, and advocacy. Our focus is on examining and expanding traditional definitions and boundaries, while acknowledging conditions of inequality, marginality, and post-coloniality.

 PUBLIC INTEREST LAW FELLOWS PROGRAM

PILI AND OSJI

<http://www.pili.org/aboutpili/fellowship.html>

PILI's Public Interest Law Fellows are newly minted lawyers from the region who participate in a two-year program administered in cooperation with the Constitutional and Legal Policy Institute. The goal of the Public Interest Law Initiative (PILI) is to advance human rights principles through assisting the development of a public interest law infrastructure in Central and Eastern Europe, Russia, Central Asia and the Caucasus.

The Fellows program is committed to the goal of expanding the regional network of public interest lawyers, as well as furthering the development of the legal staffs of advocacy NGOs in these countries. The first year of the fellowship involves auditing a semester of human rights, international and comparative law and/or environmental law courses at Columbia Law School. This is followed by a spring internship at a U.S. public interest law organization. In the second year, Fellows return to their home countries to work as staff lawyers at the non-governmental organizations that nominated them.

 RECONCEPTUALIZING PUBLIC SPHERES IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND NORTH AFRICA SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COUNCIL

<http://www.ssrc.org/fellowships/mena/>

The SSRC's Program on the Middle East & North Africa (MENA) is pleased to announce its second annual grant competition supporting international collaborative research focusing on the MENA region (defined as Iran to Morocco). We invite proposals that bring together researchers in different locations to address issues related to the changing nature of public spheres in the region. The notion of "public spheres" is used in a broad sense, to cover a range of historical and contemporary aspects of the MENA region. Topics could include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The transformation of socio-economic conditions, state and non-state structures, political regimes and conditions of political participation.
- The construction of citizenship and other/alternative individual and collective identities, and their impact on discourses and practices concerning self, family, community, sexuality, gender and ethnicity.
- The emergence of sites of cultural production and consumption as well as the creation of new publics through media and information technologies.

 VAID FELLOWSHIPS

THE POLICY INSTITUTE OF THE NATIONAL GAY AND LESBIAN TASK FORCE

<http://www.nglhf.org/about/vaid.htm>

The Policy Institute of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF) is the largest think tank in the U.S. engaged in research, policy analysis and strategic action to advance equality and understanding of gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender (GLBT) people. The Vaid Fellowship was created through generous grants from the Billie Jean King Foundation in honor of the Policy Institute's former director, long-time activist Urvashi Vaid. Vaid Fellowships support and recognize the leadership of people of color and other emerging leaders in the progressive movement for GLBT equality.

Vaid Fellows are given a great deal of responsibility and are directly supervised by a staff of nationally recognized GLBT policy experts from social science and legal research fields.
